The Monash University Postgraduate Prize

An award for Best Presentation

The Criminology Program at Monash University along with ANZSOC are pleased to announce this inaugural award. The prize is to be awarded annually at the ANZSOC Postgraduate Conference. It will be given to the most outstanding presentation of criminological research either by paper or poster. The prize consists of $250 and a perpetual trophy/plaque.

Eligibility criteria

Postgraduate students who:

- are currently enrolled in a PhD or Masters by thesis program at a recognised University
- are registered for the ANZSOC postgraduate day
- make a presentation or submit a poster to the ANZSOC postgraduate day.

Awarding the prize

All attending and registered participants will be eligible to cast one vote for the presentation or poster regarded as making the most outstanding presentation of criminological research either by conference paper or poster.

The award presentation will take place at the Postgraduate Conference Dinner.

The judges

This is a peer-judged prize. All registered postgraduate students will be eligible to vote. Details will be provided closer to the event to all registered attendees and participants.
