

Developmental and Life-Course Criminology

Convenor/s: Catia Malvaso, University of Adelaide

Tara Renae McGee, Griffith University

Aims and objectives of the Developmental and Life-course Criminology thematic group:

1. To advance developmental and life-course criminology and the study of criminal careers,
2. To bring together ANZSOC members interested in discussing and supporting developmental and life-course research in criminology,
3. To facilitate and encourage interaction and dissemination of developmental and life- course research among ANZSOC members, practitioners, funding agencies, policy-making bodies, and other relevant groups, and
4. To organize and promote ANZSOC conference sessions related to issues in developmental and life-course research in criminology.

Members:

Catia Malvaso	University of Adelaide
Tara Renae McGee	Griffith University
Jesse Cale	University of New South Wales
Kirsten Besemer	Griffith University
Stacy Tzoumakis	University of New South Wales
McGrath, Andrew (Psychology)	Charles Sturt University
Emma Antrobus	University of Queensland
Susan Dennison	Griffith University
Carleen Thompson	Griffith University
Stephanie Cardwell	University of Queensland
Tyson Whitten	University of New South Wales
Rebecca Wallis	University of Queensland
Ross Homel	Griffith University
Jason Payne	Australian National University
Jacqueline Homel	Griffith University